

國內教授汪治平 (Jyhyng Wang) 簡介

EDUCATION

- 1983-1988 Ph.D. in Applied Physics, Harvard University
1977-1981 B.S. in Physics, National Taiwan University

PROFESSIONAL POSITIONS

- Present Research Professor, Institute of Atomic and Molecular Sciences, Academia Sinica
Adjunct Professor, Institute of Electro-Optical Engineering, National Taiwan University
Chairman of Review Committee, Physics Division of National Science Council
Associate Executive Secretary, Central Advisory Committee, Academia Sinica
1998-2001 Review Committee Member, Physics Division of National Science Council
1998-2001 Associate Director, Institute of Atomic and Molecular Sciences, Academia Sinica
1991-1996 Associate Research Professor, Academia Sinica
1990-1991 Assistant Research Professor, Academia Sinica
1988-1990 Post-doctoral Research Associate, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Experimental: ultrafast optics, nonlinear optics, high-field science, nanometer microscopy
Theoretical: fundamental problems in statistical mechanics and quantum mechanics

AWARDS AND HONORS

- 2002 Fellow, Physical Society of Republic of China
1998 Outstanding Research Award by the National Science Council
1996 Academia Sinica Research Award for Junior Researchers
1995 Excellent Research Award by the National Science Council
1994 Excellent Research Award by the National Science Council