NTU-Chemistry Safety Training Regulations (for international student):

Safety training has been made a requirement for graduation for NTU-Chemistry Department students. Please comply with the regulations and guidelines based on the Department of Chemistry, National Taiwan University so as to finish the required safety training; otherwise you may not be able to graduate.

Regulations may be adjusted in accordance with rule changes made by the responsible party/parties.

1. From 2014, all students have to complete the safety training hours required for each academic year: 6 hours training in year 1, 4, and 7; 1 hour training in years 2, 3, 5 and 6.
2. For the 6-hour training, students must attend the English training courses held by Academia Sinica. Make sure to follow messages posted at AS website: http://gao.sinica.edu.tw/ehsmd/ch/ch_hygiene_news.html. For the one-hour training, students may borrow videos from NTU (Department of Chemistry, or Environmental Safety and Health Centre) or Academia Sinica. After you watch the videos, the thesis advisor's signature must be obtained to prove that safety training requirements have been met each year. See the form on the next page.
