

鄭崇華董事長 (Bruce C.H. Cheng) 簡介

Founder and Honorary Chairman
Delta Group

Founder and Chairman
Delta Electronics Foundation

Bruce C.H. Cheng is the founder and honorary chairman of Delta Group. Mr. Cheng mentors Delta's future development and promotes Delta's mission: "To provide innovative, clean, and energy-efficient solutions for a better tomorrow."

Mr. Cheng founded Delta Electronics, Inc. in 1971 and served as Delta's chairman until 2012. Under his leadership, Delta sustained over 40 years of vigorous growth to become a world leader in power supplies and electronic components that are employed throughout the global computer, telecommunications, consumer electronics, and networking industries.

As the world's number one provider of switching power supplies since 2002, Delta is a major source for power management, components, visual displays, industrial automation, networking, and renewable energy products. Delta has offices, R&D centers, and manufacturing facilities worldwide, including Taiwan, China, Thailand, Singapore, the USA, Mexico, India, Europe, and more.

Mr. Cheng has been called Taiwan's first "CEO, Chief Environmental Officer" by the Taiwan media for his commitment to preserving the environment through product innovation and energy-saving technologies. Mr. Cheng has continuously promoted the development of green architecture. Since 2006 Delta has constructed all of its new office buildings and factories around the globe as green buildings.

In 1990, Mr. Cheng established the Delta Electronics Foundation to support and sponsor activities related to environmental protection, energy-saving education, renewable energy technology development, green architecture and the development of environmental talent. In 2008, the International Astronomical Union (IAU) named Asteroid 168126 "Chengbruce" to honor Mr. Cheng's pursuit of environmental sustainability and green citizenship.

In 2006, the Chinese Management Association presented Mr. Cheng with its highest management award. In 2008, Mr. Cheng received the "Pan Wen Yuan Prize", the highest award in Taiwan's technology industry. In 2010, Mr. Cheng was honored as Ernst & Young's 2010 "Entrepreneur of the Year" and "CSR Entrepreneur". In 2011, Mr. Cheng received the "Distinguished Accomplishment Award" from the Chinese Professional Management

Association. In 2013, the Industrial Technology Research Institute (ITRI) presented Mr. Cheng with the ITRI Laureate Award.

In addition, Mr. Cheng has received honorary doctorates from several academic institutions, including: National Tsing Hua University, National Central University, National Cheng Kung University, National Taiwan University of Science and Technology, National Taipei University of Technology, National Chiao Tung University, Asia University, City University of Hong Kong and Taipei Medical University for his commitment to environmental protection and for his achievements in the high-tech industry.

Prior to founding Delta Electronics, Mr. Cheng worked at TRW and at Air Asia Co. after receiving a BSEE degree from National Cheng Kung University.